Update from Herb & Janet Hunter

The Hunter's are on furlough and visited Bethel in April. One ongoing prayer request was a larger meeting space for their church plant. Herb sent this exciting update:

We have been looking at using a building not far from us for church. However, the property has been tied up in a legal dispute, so we thought it might never happen for us. But, the lady who owns the property reached out to our co-worker, George, and told him the hall is not part of the dispute, so it can be used. On Saturday, our church folks all pitched in and cleaned the place up so it can be used for services. They have one more day of cleaning this Saturday.

The building has been provided to us rent free; all we must do is make a donation to the bee-keeping society (the lady and her partner raise bees!). The church is pretty excited to move into the place on the first Sunday of June!
